

AND NOW THE EDITOR

So we come to the end of another publishing year. As usual, we are impressed with the number of writers represented in the ten issues of Vol. XLI and the variety of themes dealt with in the editorials and articles. We strive to interpret as many Jewish experiences as possible, ranging from the theological-philosophical to the most concrete. Since Judaism, as we see it, is a religious civilization, nothing Jewish should be alien to our journal.

Due to shortage of space in this issue, we shall only identify our contributors and save reports on what is happening in the Reconstructionist world until a later issue.

Berel Lang is in the Philosophy Department of the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo.; Larry David Nachman is Associate Professor of Politics at Richmond College, City University of New York. Both men, quite independently of one another, grapple with the phenomenon of the Holocaust and the Jewish response to it thirty years after the liberation of the death camps.

Carole Kessner teaches English at Stonybrook, Long Island and is a member of the Reconstructionist Congregation of the North Shore . . . Rabbi Mark Elovitz is our book editor who supplies us from time to time with brief comments on books received . . . Abraham Blinderman resides in Levittown, N.Y. and we wish him a refuah sh-lemah . . . Robert Slovak comes from Salt Point, N.Y. . . . Carol Adler lives in Pittsford, N.Y.
